Have you ever played a game of Hot or Cold? You can play this game inside or outside. This game helps children to develop their listening skills in a fun and exciting way.

How to play:

Select one household item for hiding such as a teddy or a toy.

Player 1 (the child) will close their eyes while player 2 (the grown up) hides the item either inside or outside. Once the item is properly hidden, player 1 will search for the item listening to the clues given by player 2. If player 1 is not near the item player 2 will say 'you are cold', if they move further away from the item they will say 'you are colder...'. But as player 1 gets closer to the item player 2 will say 'getting warmer..', so they will know they are heading in the right direction. When player 1 is very close to the item player 2 will say 'you are hot'.

You can have more than one child searching for the item and you can even have a go at swapping over roles and the children can have a go at giving the hot or cold instructions. Don't forget to have fun.
