As always, the children have been super busy both at home and in the Hub. This has been our last week learning about our 'Jumping Jacks' topic and the children have loved learning about ways to be healthy individuals. During this topic, we have sorted healthy and unhealthy foods; we have created obstacle courses which the children have made for their family members to complete and we have designed and created healthy snacks which the children and their family have enjoyed eating; and we have even completed a virtual tally chart by finding out all of our friends favourite fruit on a Teams call.

As well as all of our busy topic learning, the children have also been learning about poetry. We have been looking closely at familiar nursery rhymes to help us with this, by retelling them as well as identifying rhyming words! The Nursery children have loved singing some of their favourite rhymes and the Reception children have even written their own poems! They really have all worked so hard and have done such a great job!

Check out some of our very talented little writers and nursery-rhyme-tellers...

The children have also loved exploring height, weight and size this week. They have been investigating different objects which can be found around the home, and using a range of methods to compare and discuss their sizes. We have used dough to make long and short snakes; we have made a spring scale to explore the weight of different fruits and vegetables and we have even been measuring our family member's footprints and ordering them from smallest to largest.

We hope you enjoy looking at some of our work!
