

VE Day Activities.

Friday 8th May marks the anniversary of VE Day, Victory in Europe. This was the day that Germany surrendered WW2. They agreed to stop fighting which meant that Britain and her allies won World War Two. A day to be celebrated and remembered forever.

This year is extra special as it is the 75th Anniversary of VE Day. Here are some activities that you can do at home to celebrate VE Day. I am sure that you will have lots of fun. I am looking forward to seeing your pictures.

Have fun and stay safe!

Create VE bunting and decorate your home.

Share a classic British afternoon tea with your family, you could help a grown up make it.

Make a paper or a junk aeroplane and decorate it like a spitfire.

Make a Union Jack flag. You could paint, crayon, colour, collage. Be as creative as you like!
