Saint David

Who was Saint David?
He was born on the south-west coast of Wales, near where the city of St David’s is today. He was the son of Saint Non and Sandde (also known as Sant). He died on the 1st of March, 589 AD.

What did he do?
His teacher was St Paulin. He performed several miracles in his life including restoring Paulin’s sight by placing two hands on his eyes.

• He spread Christianity.
• He was the Archbishop of Wales.
• He travelled throughout Wales and Britain and even went to Jerusalem.

During a battle against the Saxons, he told his soldiers to wear a leek on their helmets to distinguish themselves from the enemy. This is why the leek is one of the emblems of Wales.

Monastic Life
St. David was a monk and he opened 12 monasteries. The largest monastery was in Mynwy, West Wales. He spent most of his life devoted to God and gave up most worldly possessions. This is called monasticism. When following the monastic rules, monks had to:

• pull the plough themselves without the help of animals;
• drink only water and eat only bread with salt and herbs;
• spend their evenings in prayer, reading or writing;
• participate in crafts and trades; beekeeping was very important;
• keep themselves fed as well as looking after the poor.
One of his best miracles
His best known miracles took place when he was preaching in the middle of a large crowd in the village of Llanddewi Brefi. The spot of ground where he stood is said to have risen. This allowed everyone to have a better chance of hearing and seeing him.

A white dove, which became his emblem was seen sitting on his shoulder.

Saint David’s Day
Saint David died on the 1st of March, 589. In 1120, the Pope announced that David was a Saint. Soon after he was named the Patron Saint of Wales.

The 1st of March is an important festival in Wales and is also celebrated across the world.

Many people make the special pilgrimage to see Saint David’s cathedral every year.

What can we learn from Saint David?
He believed in working hard and living a simple life. His favourite saying was, “We should concentrate on doing the little things in God’s presence with conscientiousness and devotion.”

If we concentrate on doing the little things in life, we can change our world for the better.

Who was Saint David?

He originated from the south-west coast of Wales, near where the city of St David’s is today. He came from an aristocratic family. He was the son of Saint Non, whose father was the Chieftain of Mynwy, and of Sandde, the Prince of Powys. He was the grandson of Ceredig ap Cunedda, King of Ceredigion.

It was believed that Saint David was the nephew of King Arthur. Legend has it that the patron saint of Ireland, Saint Patrick was also born near the present day city of Saint Davids.

It has been suggested that he was born between 462 and 512 but no one knows for certain.

Non brought Dewi up at Hen Fynwy near Aberaeron and together they founded a nunnery at Llanon. He was educated at the monastery of Hen Fynwy. His teacher was Saint Paulin. Dewi performed several miracles in his life including restoring Paulin’s sight by placing two hands on his eyes.

What did he do?

- He spread Christianity among the Celtic tribes of Western Britain.
- He was ordained Archbishop of Wales in 550. However, he continued to live in his beloved home community, Mynwy.
- He is said to have denounced Pelagianism which was a group which disagreed with the Church of Wales.
- He travelled throughout Wales and Britain and even went to Jerusalem.
- During the battle against the Saxons he told his soldiers to wear a leek on their helmets to distinguish themselves from the enemy. This is why the leek is one of the emblems of Wales.
