

Design a book cover for your favourite book. Write a blurb on the back.	Dress up as a character from your favourite book.	Create a bookmark for your reading book. Spend some time reading quietly.	Design a poster to advertise your favourite book.	Write a book review to share with your friends.
Create a comic strip or storyboard recounting the key events of a story of your choice.	Act out a scene from a story you know well.	Write a letter to your favourite author. Write to the authors care of the publishers. You will find the address on the inside cover of one of their books.	Make your own book, use a Mini Picture Book Template or find an online picture book creator.	Create a portrait of a character from your favourite book
Write an alternative ending to a popular story	Think of questions that you could ask your favourite author.	Use a random story generator as the starting point for your own story, e.g. Scholastic Story Starters .	Compare a book with an animated / movie version of it. Which do you prefer? Why? How is the movie similar or different to the original text?	Write a summary of a story in the form of a 'tweet'. Can you condense the plot into 140 characters?