

sup super supp sur

Is the Master of the words supernatural? Do you suppose he has a surname?

1 The words in bold are in the wrong sentences. Write out the sentences correctly.

- a Helen thinks she is supply to all her friends.
- b The chair must have been moved by a surround force.
- c The team made one last surface effort to equalise.
- d The defenders had to supreme their diet by eating dog food.
- e I am unable to suppress you with any more food.
- f It came as no supermarket when Jim was eaten by a lion.
- g You can have cocoa and biscuits for your supernatural.
- h I don't superior you have change for £1?
- i Paul nearly burst when he tried to survive his laughter.
- j Customers have a wide choice in the surprise.
- k The submarine came to the supper and opened fire.
- l No matter what the hardships are, we will surely.
- m It took no time for the Indians to supplement the wagon train.
- n You can sell all furniture that is suppose to our needs.
- o Wayne gave himself away as surplus as if he had confessed.

superior supermarket supernatural supper supplement supply suppose suppress supreme surely surface surplus surprise surround survive