

Year 5 - Preview Homework - 14th January 2022

English

Next week, we will be concluding the text: Robot Girl by Malorie Blackman. The children will acquire the skills necessary to write a balanced argument. They will look at and learn about causal conjunctions and will generate two points of view about the same event.

Practise using the causal conjunction links below

Causal conjunction worksheets

Look at this BBC Bitesize video and see if you can write a balance argument using a few causal conjunctions from the list above in the worksheets.

Mathematics

Over the next few weeks, we will be studying statistic

Vocabulary within this topic will include: interpret, construct, data, represent, pictogram, tally chart, block graph, table, category, compare, total, sort, axis, axes, more, less, fewer, most popular, least popular, increase, decrease, scale, interval, present, discreet, continuous, time graph, line graph, comparison, sum, difference, time tables

Some websites you can go on to refresh your statistic knowledge are:

BBC Bitesize, Maths is fun and as always, our favourite Mathletics

You may want to explore these areas with your child prior to your child's learning in class.

Task: Complete the task on Mathletics set by your teacher and check out the new 'Purple Mash' on the website as well.

Thematic

This is our final term before we say farewell to the Vikings, so let's have a big push in the lead up to museum day to produce some fantastic Viking project work. Here is the link to the chilli choice options: <https://my.uso.im/mydrive/8fdeee8ee53948a69e696530b15255ba/The-Viking-Chilli-HW>

If you have modelling clay or plasticine at home why not have a go at making a Viking dragonhead. Here are a few ideas.

Class Blogs are up and running smoothly; pupils can submit homework on that platform as well. Keep your eyes peeled for any class updates on there. It is expected that your child will complete at least 3 pieces of Thematic homework per half term so please ask them about it. As always, we expect that pupils will continue to do TTRS and Athletics (earning 1,000 points each week) as part of their weekly homework as well. Children should also continue to record their daily reading into their diaries.
